

GLOBAL STUDIES ROUNDTABLE

Monday February 20, 2017, Law School 4th floor Faculty Lounge
Sponsored by the Exploring Interdisciplinary Global Studies Project

Themes

1. How globalization or global studies frames your research
2. What theoretical dimensions of global studies you have found to be useful

Schedule

10:00-10:15 Coffee and pastries

10:15-10:30 Introduction

Michael Palis (Provost, Rutgers University Camden)
Kriste Lindenmeyer (Dean, Faculty of Arts and Sciences and Graduate School)
John Wall (Religion, PI)

10:30-11:30 Panel I (5-minute mini-presentations)

Sarada Balagopalan (Childhood Studies, Co-PI)
Carla Giaudrone (World Languages and Cultures, Co-PI)
Rafey Habib (English, Co-PI)
Harry Rhea (Sociology, Co-PI)
Cindy Dell Clark (Anthropology)
Rakesh Sambharya (Management and International Business)
Keith Green (English)
Prospero Garcia (World Languages and Cultures)
Nicole Karapanagiotis (Religion)
Melissa Yates (Philosophy)

11:30-11:45 Break for catered lunch

11:45-12:20 Panel II (5-minute mini-presentations)

Gloria Bonilla (Public Policy and Administration)
Cati Coe (Anthropology)
Beth Rabinowitz (Political Science)
Jillian Sayre (English)
Wojtek Wolfe (Political Science)
Ana Laguna (World Languages and Cultures)
Julie Kendall (Management) and Kenneth Kendall (Management)

12:20-1:15 Discussion (moderated by organizers)

1. What questions are driving the field of global studies?
2. How can research be performed with greater interdisciplinarily?
3. What opportunities exist for future work on our campus?